SOWINGS

By Brenda Ealey, Administrator

I had the opportunity to attend the Spring Meeting for Nebraska Library Association Public Library & Trustee Section (PLTS). One segment of the PLTS Spring Meeting gave us the opportunity to hear Pat Wagner share ideas for quick and easy strategic planning. Pat Wagner of Pattern Research is not a stranger to Nebraska and has been providing training for librarians for 30+ years. I won't be able to share with the same flair and humor that she possesses but I'll list below just a few of the ideas she provided for consideration:

- A plan is a written contract between staff, the director, the board and the community that gets everyone on the same train and encourages you to set priorities.
- A library can't be everything to everyone, so think of three target audiences the library needs to serve better in the future.
- The director is the point person who is responsible for researching, writing, and executing, with input from the board, staff and community. The board should be involved in the vision; the staff should be involved in the projects and tactics.
- The better future (for the community and users outside the library) guides the choices you make (inside the library): Where are you going, and why? Pick three problems facing your community or institution and consider how solving these problems can become part of your library's new destination. What are three goals that the library could accomplish that would improve the lives of your customers?
- Five Steps to Success: 1) Research: Input before, during & after; 2) Vision: Where are you going, & why; 3) Projects: What will you accomplish; 4) Tactics: How will you do it; 5) Evaluations: Feedback during & after.

Another item on the agenda addressed weeding library collections. This is a great topic for anytime of the year but I think is especially relevant with thoughts percolating on spring cleaning and getting ready for summer reading. The panel included presentations from three individuals (Tammy Teasley/Lincoln City Libraries; Becky Baker/Seward Memorial Library; Sara Churchill/Blair Schools) utilizing three different automation systems – Pioneer/Koha; Apollo/Bibliostat, and Destiny/Follett.

The program started in April of 2002 with library staff providing information about books and upcoming library programs.

Sales Tax & Raffles - Laz Flores, Nebraska Department of Revenue. It's good to have a refresher on what library services require sales tax and the rules governing raffles since they've become such a popular and easy way to do fundraising. You can send specific questions you'd like answered prior to the session, or simply plan to listen and learn.

Google: What's New – Megan Boggs, Seward Memorial Library. Google is probably used by most of us daily, but keeping up with what's new sometimes is a challenge. Learn what's new on Google and explore with us.

Pinterest – Amy Mather, Omaha Public Library. Pinterest is an online pinboard where you can organize and share the things you love. It has social networking features with a mission to connect Pinterest users with things they find interesting. You will have time to try it out and discover why it's become so popular.

Free Tools for Surveys & Polls – Megan Boggs, Seward Memorial Library. One way of gaining feedback on library services, customer needs, and future plans is through surveys and polls. (Sowings, continued from page 1)

Their encouragement to weed included the following:

- Take advantage of tools like the CREW Manual – which provide guidelines to help in considering what to weed. You can find CREW online through the Texas State Library at: <https://www.tsl.state.tx.us/ld/pubs/crew/index.html>.
- Outdated or inaccurate content on any library shelf can make all libraries look bad.
- Why Weed? - Poor condition, duplicate copies, dated information (sometimes nothing is better than something dated), space (items need to deliver for a spot on a library's shelf space that is often limited) and lack of use.
- Make sure your weeding policy is up-to-date, and have a procedure in place that covers weeding from start to finish.
- Don't procrastinate and reward yourself for progress.

Follett has a product called – Titlewave – www.titlewave.com – which anyone can use even if you are not a Follett Library. It's a tool intended to help you view your statistics, analyze and understand the make-up of your library collection.

Possibly for motivation, or to keep a sense of humor on the topic visit Awfullibrarybooks.net. <http://awfullibrarybooks.net>. It's a collection of library holdings that the two librarians managing the site find interesting, amusing, questionable, odd, outdated or perhaps past due for reconsideration. They also invite submissions.

Last up, I was pleased as a member of the committee reviewing the Public Library Accreditation Guidelines to offer attendees a glimpse of where we are at with that process. I'll just share a few of the highlights and proposals that will be suggested by the committee to the NLC Commissioners who will approve revisions with plans to have them in place by 2013:

- There will still be levels of accomplishment; however the guidelines will all be in one list rather than three separate lists. Guidelines met will earn an assigned number of points.
- Guidelines will link with library plans with the intended result of allowing communities to focus on unique accomplishments and goals.
- As much as possible, guidelines requiring statistical information will be pre-populated using sources like the annual public library survey.
- Creation of a final document that is flexible and as simple as possible.
- There will be a list of core requirements that a public library will need to meet, prior to seeking accreditation. Many of those basic elements are outlined in state statute and define the principal/foundational? characteristics of a public library.
- Nebraska Public Library Accreditation Guidelines Revision Group included: Joan Birnie, Co-Chair (Broken Bow); Kathy Bretschneider (Battle Creek); Francine Canfield (Ralston); Kendra Caskey (Ogallala); Robin Clark (Papillion); Amy Greenland (Hastings); Pat Leach (Lincoln); Stan Schulz, Co-Chair (York); Brenda Ealey (Southeast Library System); John Felton, Laura Johnson & Richard Miller (Nebraska Library Commission)

Kudos to PLTS for providing a continuing education program and taking it on the road in an effort to serve NLA members and non-members across the state. You can find handouts from PLTS Spring Meeting programs on their website at: <http://www.nebraskalibraries.org/PLTS/meetings.html>.

38th Annual National Library Legislative Day

Washington, D.C.

More than 350 librarians and library supporters from across the country converged in Washington, D.C. from April 23–24, 2012, to meet with members of Congress to discuss key library issues during the American Library Association's 38th annual National Library Legislative Day. The event focused on supporting federal funding for the national libraries.

This year, the American Library Association included a virtual advocacy component for library supporters who could not attend the Washington meetings—advocates worked remotely to connect with legislators via phone calls, emails and social media platforms. Additionally, the Legislative Day event included the joint announcement on the partnership between public libraries and the Head Start program. The partnership encourages more collaboration between early childhood Head Start programs and libraries. Below are some of the key issues addressed at this year's event:

Appropriations

- Federal Funding for the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA): ALA asks the Congress and the President for level funding of the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) at $184.7 million for FY 2013.
- Federal Funding for School Libraries: ALA asks the U.S. President and the U.S. Congress for level funding of the Innovative Approaches to Literacy (IAL) program at $28.6 million for FY 2013.

School Library Programs

Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) Reauthorization:

ALA urges that when Congress reauthorizes the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) that it includes school libraries by incorporating the following provisions:

- Maintain dedicated federal funding for school libraries;
- Include provisions under Title I state and local plans and the Race to the Top Fund to establish a state goal of having a school library staffed by a state-licensed school librarian in each public school; and,
- Allow state and local professional development funds to be used for recruiting and training school librarians.

For more information on key issues and to learn more about National Library Legislative Day, go to www.ala.org/nlld.

YALSA names La Vista Public Library winner of a 2012 YALSA/Dollar General Summer Reading Program Grant

From La Vista, NE

The La Vista Public Library has been named a recipient of one of the Young Adult Library Services Association's (YALSA) 20 Summer Reading Program Grants for the second year in a row! The grants give each winning library $1,000 to offer inventive summer reading programs to the teens in their community. The grants are funded by the Dollar General Literacy Foundation.

"The teen program is consistently growing. When I started in the middle of the 2009 SRP there were only 79 participants. After reinventing the whole program in 2010, to include READ Bingo Cards to track reading and offering Book Bucks for participating in various programs, we saw participation jump nearly 600% to 474 total teens. Winning the grant in 2011 made our 'You Are Here' SRP hugely successful as we more than doubled 2010's numbers with a total of 1,071 teens. We look forward to even bigger success this summer," said Lindsey Tomsu, Teen Coordinator.

After being disappointed with the images of the Collaborative Summer Reading Program's "Own the Night" theme, the Teen Advisory Board (TAB) decided to make their own and voted on "A Supernaturally Spooky Summer." "We liked the alliteration of the title and the many programming prospects we could have fun with in a three-month Halloween-inspired SRP," said Haley Christensen, TAB member. Not only will this grant help fund the core summer programs teens have come to love, such as the 3rd Annual Water Fight Finale and two 10-hour movie-a-thons, it will also help fund many programs that Tomsu would have had to pass over without the additional funds, such as a ghost hunt from Omaha Paranormal Research, a visit from Project Wildlife, a visit with YA author John Kalkowski, and the many supplies needed to accommodate estimates of 50+ teens for the various spooky crafts planned.

Tomsu also said, "I hope I can provide my teens with a summer that makes the awesomeness of 2010 and 2011 pale in comparison. I hope the activities planned will show more and more teens that the library is the place to be. All programs are free of charge and are a great way to hang out with friends while doing fun stuff and getting rewarded for it in the end with Book Bucks that allow teens to pick their own prizes. "

The La Vista Public Library will use the grant to fund the 2012 Teen Summer Reading Program, which runs from June 5th to August 10th. The Teen Kick-Off Party will be held at 3 p.m. on Thursday, May 31st. Teens can come to the library to pick up calendars, register, hear about the various activities, and play games and have refreshments. Later that night teens can enjoy the final tournament of the TAB-created Pool Noodle Kendo Club at 6 p.m. Teen activities will be held throughout the summer every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:30 and 6:00 p.m. The program is open to all teens that just completed 5th grade and up, which is new this year. "In the past, the teen program has been open to those in 6th grade and up. After talking with my TAB and the children's librarian, Jodi Linhart, we decided to let those who just finished 5th grade join the teen SRP. "We looked at it from a logical point of view," said Keyahna Wood, TAB member. "In August when they start school again as 6th graders they are going to be considered teens so why not let them join the program three months early?" Another TAB member, Jodie Tolliver, also said, "We hope that by including the 5th graders this summer they will see just how awesome the teen program is, have loads of fun, and stick around for the 2012-2013 school-year programming as well."

Teens can begin registering during the Kick-Off Party and thereafter at the library's front desk. Contact Lindsey Tomsu at 402-537-3900 in regards to any questions about the program.

Outdoor Reading at Plymouth Library

From Jenny Washburn, Plymouth Library

Exciting happenings for Plymouth Library began with the idea: "I wish we had a place outdoors for patrons to come and read!" The library board loved the idea and for the past six months we have been making a dream into a reality. A Gazebo that is 12' x 16', with a tin roof to match the library's and a location where patrons will be able to use it during library hours or come through at all times of day or night. With the help of community businesses, friends of the library, a Trivent Financial grant and a few fundraisers, we have raised ample funds. With the help of the local school and Tri-County's 2012 industrial tech students our structure is built. With the help of a local carpenter we are going to add benches and picnic tables. We want everyone to know and help us celebrate! So, on June 4th, Plymouth Library is having an Open House/ Summer Reading Kickoff celebration which will include a 'red ribbon' cutting ceremony. We would love to have you join in on all the fun!

Libri Foundation Books for Children Grants

The Libri Foundation is currently accepting applications for its 2012 Books for Children grants.

The Libri Foundation is a nation-wide nonprofit organization that donates new, quality hardcover children's books to small, rural public libraries throughout the United States. (Public libraries that received a Books for Children grant in 2009 or earlier are eligible to apply again.)

In order to encourage and reward local support of libraries, the Libri Foundation will match any amount of money raised by your local sponsors from $50 to $350 on a 2-to-1 ratio. Thus, a library can receive up to $1,050 worth of new children's books. After a library receives a grant, local sponsors (such as formal or informal Friends groups, civic or social organizations, local businesses, etc.) have four months, or longer if necessary, to raise their matching funds.

The application deadline is May 15. Grants will be awarded May 31. Application guidelines and forms may be downloaded from the Foundation's website at www.librifoundation.org.

Highlights from the Administrator's report include:

- Training & Consulting

- Jan 13 CASTL meeting had a good discussion on a statute about notarizing annual reports. Adam Prochaska was asked for advice, and suggested taking notarization seriously and maybe look at revising the statute. Apparently no one knew about it before. Discussion took place about finding a way to get the statute revised, like partnering with NLA to suggest a bill.
- Jan 16th - had meeting with Pawnee City board and mayor and city council member in the same room to talk about the rules, laws and responsibilities of the library board.

- Met with a couple of new directors to talk about all the reports that they need to submit. This is a tricky time to come on as a new director as deadlines are close by for these things.
 - Picture this workshop Feb 2nd
 - Feb 9 - CASTL meeting in Auburn about NebrasKard. Maybe System should be more involved in promoting it.
 - Various consultation topics: consolidation of library director/city clerk position, accreditation requirements and revisions in the works, and e-rate. Brenda also mentioned she brings in others for consultations on things like legal issues and technology to credit a network of support.
- Break for lunch at 11:16 AM
- Resumed 1:18 PM
 - Promotion/Advocacy
 - Involved with ALA Councilors meetings and activities.
 - Jan 26 - Ignite Lincoln - Brenda presented on intellectual freedom and Julie Beno talked about the secret lives of librarians.
 - Jan 31 – attended NLC deficiency request hearing at the Capitol.

 - Looking forward to new carpet to be installed.
 - Will have an open house sometime when painting, carpeting, sorting & tossing are all done.
 - Coordinating a group to participate in the Big Talk for Small Libraries February 28th
 - Got a list from John Felton on library directors who didn't submit public library survey from SELS area. Consider targeting these libraries to communicate with and touch base.

 - Hunger Games will be the next private movie showing
 - April 26 - Aged to Perfection. Asking for help in creating baskets for event.

Southeast Library System is a multi-type library network with 248 members offering a wide range of service in public, school, academic, institutional and private libraries (Membership list with populations from 2000 Census are on the SELS web page: www.selsne.org.) Membership includes 12 academic institutions, including the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, four private colleges, three community college campuses, a state college and a technical school. Fifty-four public libraries are system members. The majority of these libraries (34) serve populations fewer than 1,000. The system counts 146 school media centers among its members, 54 that are Lincoln Public Schools, with most of those belonging to Class 3 schools (population areas between 1,000 and 100,000). Fourteen of the school media centers are parochial. The system has 28 special and institutional members, most of which are located in Lancaster County.
