To County superintendents:-

For the forthcoming number of the Nebraska library bulletin, some notes on Nebraska school libraries are earnestly desired. Since copy should, even now, be in the hands of the printer, only such data as you may have at hand is asked for.

Are the rural and village schools very generally taking up the library idea? Can you estimate the average amount of money per district that has been spent on school libraries this & past school year? How is this money secured?

Are teachers learning to value the school library and can they lead their pupils to use it intelligently?

Is there a schoolhouse in your county without a good English dictionary? What proportion of your districts have good encyclopaedias?

Please include any notes on school libraries and their use that will help to make our bulletin interesting to the school people.

An early reply will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Edna D. Bullock, Sec'y.
